KANSAS CITY MAN MAKES NAVAJO DICTIONARY

Also Takes Translation of Several Books of Old and New Testaments to New York for Publication.

Kansas City, Mo., May 26.—Fred Mitchell, missionary to the Navajo Indians of Taos, Ariz., was in Kansas City today. Mr. Mitchell was on his way to New York to have a part of the Bible, which he has translated into the Navajo language, printed by the American Bible Society. He stopped in Kansas City to transact some business matters for the mission.

That part of the scriptures which Mr. Mitchell has translated consists of the book of Genesis, the first twenty-third, thirty-second, fifty-first and one hundred and thirty-first Psalms, the fifty-third and fifty-fourth chapters of Isaiah, the books of Moses, John and the Romans, the first and second chapters of Luke, the first and second chapters of the Acts and the three chapters of Revelations.

Mr. Mitchell also has prepared a handbook of three thousand Navajo words, translated into the English language, which was the first effort to translate the Navajo language into English.

At the same time a shooting occurred in a Wagon Mound saloon which is believed to have been accidental. Gerardo Roybal was shot in the Wagon Mound office, which occurred in a saloon owned by George King.

According to the story received here today, Roybal was in the saloon with his uncle, Ricardo Martinez, and while drinking heard a disturbance on the outside of the place. He went to investigate and found several men in a quarrel.

Royal returned to the saloon and asked the proprietor for his gun which he had deposited with him earlier in the evening. When asked for the weapon, Martinez stated that he would soon settle the quarrel on the outside and evidently wished to use his gun as the peacemaker.

His uncle, Ricardo Martinez, feared that trouble might result and endeavored to persuade Roybal to refrain from using the weapon. In a scuffle which followed when Martinez tried to take the gun from Roybal, the weapon was accidentally discharged, the bullet passing through Roybal's leg.

The Navajo tribe is the largest tribe of Indians in the United States. There are twenty-eight thousand members of the tribe, and they are the only Indians in the country not supported by the government. The Navajos are self-supporting. They are farmers on the great American desert, practically all of them being shepherds. They are very successful sheep men.

While the Navajos have a reservation allotted to them by the government, they have long since overgrowned the land set apart for them and now occupy a territory three hundred miles wide, extending down to the Grand Canyon of Arizona.

The Navajo is a peaceful citizen, Mr. Mitchell said today. "They are hard workers, thrifty, sober and much more reliable than the other Indian tribes."

"But there certainly do violate the first commandment. Thou shall have no other God before me; for the Navajo worship almost anything they see, such as hills, mountains, the sun, moon, darkness, snakes, anything that impresses them."

Their language is very difficult to translate. It is divided into four different classes. For instance, things round, or long and slender, or thin and flexible, take classes by themselves in the Navajo language.

"Small objects that can be held in the hand, objects that are carried in a vessel, that which is alive, that which may be carried in the arms or piled up, such as hay or woods, fields, each take a class. One root word expresses the class and the suffix identifies the particular thing within that class."

The verb 'to give' in the Navajo language has fifteen hundred conjugations."

Mr. Mitchell went to the Navajo mission field nine years ago. Up to that time he had been very active in Y. M. C. A. work in Kansas. He is known in almost every town in that state. He started the mission work in the James street and Armourdale districts on the Kansas side. Associated with him in the Navajo mission is W. H. Johnston, who established the mission, but both Mr. Johnston and Mr. Mitchell are now working under the direction of the Presbyterian church.

Result of Prohibition. Father Neptune (to group of marauders)—Well, girls, I must say it's more comfortable now I can wade around under an American man-over-wall without cutting my feet on broken bottles.

"A hen," promptly responded Pat, "would soon to short-change her owner by laying half an egg. An robbery but a tightfist was ever think as such a thing."—Judge.

FATAL STABBING IN WAGON MOUND MONDAY

Saro Pacheco Dies as Result of Wounds Inflicted by Jacobo Lucero; Both Men Prominent; Occurred in a Saloon.

(Special Correspondence to the Herald) East Las Vegas, N. M., May 26.—News reached here today of a stabbing affray in a Wagon Mound saloon Monday night, which resulted in the death of Saro Pacheco, son of the late probate judge of Mora county and a prominent citizen. Jacobo Lucero, also well known in Mora county, is alleged to have done the stabbing. Details are lacking, but District Attorney Charles W. G. Ward and Sheriff Patrick Sanchez of Mora county have gone to Wagon Mound to make an investigation.

Las Cruces Lining UP FOR THE ANNUAL DONA ANA COUNTY FAIR

Las Cruces, N. M., May 25.—At a meeting held this week the Dona Ana County Fair association reorganized, elected officers and laid preliminary plans for the Dona Ana county fair to be held this fall. The association is incorporated, owns its own grounds and is offering stock for funds with which to erect buildings and carry out this year's fair. The past two fairs have been very successful and it is the purpose of the association to make the county fair this year a real old-time county exhibit of prize winning products. The new officers are J. D. Jacobs, president, M. R. Stevens, vice president, and secretary, P. W. Baker, treasurer, and J. G. Stewart, G. W. Frazee, Fabio Garcia and Charles T. Bartlett, directors.

The dates for the fair have not been set, but it is planned to hold it before the state fair at Albuquerque so that a winning display of Dona Ana county products may be taken there.

Surprising Cure of Stomach Trouble. Jacob Hindelang, of Chelsea, Mich., was ill with stomach trouble and in such bad shape that he lived for two months on lime-water and milk. He then began using Chamberlain's Tablets. He says: "I am seventy-six years of age but never in my life used any medicine that cured in such a short time as Chamberlain's Tablets."

"A hen," promptly responded Pat, "would soon to short-change her owner by laying half an egg. An robbery but a tightfist was ever think as such a thing."—Judge.

The Markets

GENERAL GAINS IN STOCK MARKET TODAY

(By Leased Wire to Evening Herald) New York, May 27.—The market closed strong. Stocks scored general gains on the day, the early period of which was marked by moderate activity, later giving way to renewed dullness. The market was held in check by a loss in the final dealings but a sudden spurt in Mexican Petroleum advanced that stock 1 1/2%. Authoritative advice respecting conditions in the steel trade were of a negative character.

The more important stocks closed as follows: Standard Oil, 72 1/2%; Sugar, 107; Atchison, 97 1/2%; Reading, 166 1/2%; Southern Pacific, 94%; Union Pacific, 158 1/2%; Steel, 62 1/2%; Steel preferred, 110.

Chicago Grain

Chicago, May 27.—Wheat prices rallied today after an early weakness due to lower cables. The upturn was caused by buying based largely on a feeling that the recent four-cent decline had more than discounted all the wheat crop developments in the southwest. Prices opened 1 1/4 to 2¢ lower to 4 1/2 to 5¢ up and then made an all-around gain.

The close was firm, unchanged to 5¢ higher.

Scantiness of receipts gave the corn market lift. Quotations, which had started unchanged to 2 1/2¢ lower, showed a general advance, except that May showed a disposition to sag.

The close was steady at 1 1/2¢ decline to a like advance compared with last night.

Some breaks in the drought tended to ease oats.

Provision prices hardened with an upturn in quotations at the yards. First sales ranged from a shade to 1 1/2¢ higher and the firmness was well maintained.

Wheat—May, 25; July, 55 1/2.

Corn—May, 41 1/2; July, 47 3/4.

Oats—May, 41 1/2; July, 39 2 1/2.

Pork—July, 220.00; Sept., 219.80.

Lard—July, 9.50; Sept., 9.37.
